HARDING TO PUT U. S. TROLLEY BACK ON WIRE

Wild Policies of Past to Be Discarded.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(Special.)—A strong nationalistic foreign policy will be initiated by Mr. Harding immediately upon assuming office, senators returning from the final conference at Marion assert.

To help ourselves as well as others, in contrast with the Wilson policy of helping others and not ourselves, is said to be the keynote of the policy of the new president plans to pursue. It is for this purpose that he has informed himself in detail of conditions abroad, and it is the aim he has disclosed in his discussion with almost every visitor to Marion.

Mr. Harding has been taking stock of America's interests, either sacrificed or impaired by President Wilson in his scheme of internationalism, particularly in the Paris peace negotiations. To salvage what he can, to reconstruct and to strengthen the command of the world position of the United States, is the Harding program.

Glad U. S. Is Out of It.

The information the president elect has received concerning affairs in Europe has convinced him it is nothing but a disaster that America has been saved from entanglement in the European war, and that the United States, and internal concerns of European states.

Mr. Harding is represented as more strongly than ever of the opinion that America should keep clear of participation in European affairs and stand pat in the Monroe doctrine that European nations keep hands off the affairs of the American continent.

Under the circumstances, therefore, the president elect doubts that it is feasible to accept the Versailles treaty unless it should be very materially modified, not only in respect to the league of nations covenant, which in any event it would be necessary to eliminate, but in respect to the peace terms proper, from which it will be necessary to exclude provisions for the participation of the United States in the multitude of commissions which are to regulate the affairs of Europe for years to come.

Opposes Present "War."

He will insist, however, upon ending the present anomalous and fictitious state of war with Germany, and, therefore, more inclined than ever to favor the restoration of peace by legislation, such as the Knox resolution voted by President Wilson.

Recently published cable reports of reports and other dire punishment which European nations intend to visit upon the United States if it persists in refusing to enter the league of nations, are regarded as an amusing bit of foreign pro-league propaganda by those who are aware of the authoritative information obtained by Mr. Harding.

The fact is, according to this information, that America is in a more commanding position today than when President Wilson went to Paris, that Europe is more dependent on America and America less dependent on Europe than ever before. The United States is not only the richest nation in resources, but has supplanted Great Britain as the foremost credit nation and world banker.

Europe's Boycott a Myth.

Europe not only could not afford to boycott the United States, for she would starve if she did, but needs so much help from us that she is ready to do our bidding. She is ready to do to whatever association of nations we propose and to junk the present league, it is asserted.

England is courted, the favor of the United States, her creditors. Her confidence has been restored to the confidence of Mr. Harding that she would be willing to agree to a revision of naval armament based on the equality of the American and British navies, to achieve which the United States would continue to build and England halt building until they reached the same footing.

This is one of the reasons that the provision for a 50 per cent reduction for five years was stricken from the treaty.

Uses Private Crime Wave to Get Candy and Cigars

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21.—A taste for candy and cigars led John Carroll, 11, still in short pants, to start a personal crime wave, the police said today. He had confessed, they added, to robbing a store in the last ten days. Carroll comes from St. Joseph, Mo., he said.

G. M. SPANGLER MADE BUSINESS CHIEF OF OPERA

Mary Garden Tells of His Selection.

Selection of George Miller Spangler as the new business manager of the Chicago Opera association was announced informally yesterday. The announcement came from Miss Mary Garden, the new director of the Opera association, and was made to her personal friends.

The occasion for the announcement was a reception given in the honor of Miss Garden at the home of Mrs. William J. Chalmers at 1100 Lake Shore drive. Personal friends of Miss Garden, including many of the directors of the opera association, were invited to be present to bid her good-bye before she leaves with the opera company for New York.

Miss Garden told these friends that she had selected Mr. Spangler for the position of business manager of the opera association, but added no details.

May Take Charge Immediately.

Directors of the association refused last night to add to her statement. "You'll have to get all your information from Miss Garden. She is the boss now and the only one who can give out any facts," was the answer returned invariably by directors who were questioned last night.

It was assumed, however, that Mr. Spangler will immediately take charge of the business affairs of the opera association. Miss Garden leaves for New York today immediately after her appearance in "The Love of Three Kings" in the afternoon. She goes to New York, where the Chicago company will fill an engagement of several weeks.

There has been no titular business manager since the resignation of Herbert Johnson, who was both director and business manager.

Handled Convention Bureau.

The new business manager of the opera association has been manager of the bureau of conventions for the Chicago Association of Commerce for several years. In this capacity he has formed intimate relations with many of the directors of the opera association. Mr. Spangler's home is in Kenilworth. He was born in Cleveland, O., in 1874 and is married. He has been a prominent member of the Hamilton club, which he served as an officer and director. He is known for his athletic activities and is a swimmer of some note.

WILSON NOT TO STAND DURING INAUGURATION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(Special.)—President Wilson, according to inauguration plans as they stand now, plans to ride with President-elect Harding to the capitol March 4. Mr. Wilson, however, does not expect to remain for the inauguration ceremony, where he would be required, according to custom, to mount the inauguration stand with his successor.

While the president could, if necessary, accompany Mr. Harding to the inaugural stand, his friends and medical advisers think he should not do so. He will, therefore, return to the White House as soon as Mr. Harding reaches the capitol and await the new president and Mrs. Harding at the White House at luncheon.

The president and Mrs. Wilson will then take leave of the White House and go to their new Washington home.

New York Lawyer Kills Himself in Washington

Washington, Jan. 21.—W. M. Coleman of New York, general counsel for the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad company, leaped from the eleventh story of a hotel on Pennsylvania avenue last night. He left a note giving all his property to his widow. He was 50 years old. He offered no explanations.

It will be a horrible indictment of the good will and the intelligence of the American people if some means is not devised to get food over to the starving people in Europe," she said.

Foreign Furs Are Cheaper; Domestic Also Decline

New York, Jan. 21.—Prices for foreign furs, among them more than forty-two tons of rabbit skins from the Antipodes, showed marked decline from spring sale levels at the fur auction here today. The declines ranged from 35 to 75 per cent. Wolf and opossum, the only domestic skins sold, showed average decreases of 50 to 60 per cent.

Flying Electresses Call Off Jaunt; Bad Weather

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The airplane trip to Washington being made by Mrs. H. H. Wheeler, Nebraska presidential electress, and Mrs. Draper Smith, alternate, was called off late this afternoon because of unfavorable flying weather. The two women will complete their journey to Washington by rail.

FORD IS HUNTING A $50,000,000 LOAN IN N. Y., IS RUMOR

New York, Jan. 21.—[By the Associated Press.]—New York bankers conversant with Ford Motor company affairs today confirmed reports that the corporation is negotiating for a large loan, possibly between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000.

Maturing obligations of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 are to be taken care of in any new financing, it was stated, and a large amount of money is needed by Ford interests for working capital. It also was said to be understood that the loan, if consummated, would be handled by a syndicate of bankers here and in Boston and probably Chicago and other big financial centers of the country.

Won't Talk in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 21.—Ford Motor company officials this afternoon would neither confirm nor deny the New York report that the corporation was negotiating a loan of upwards of $50,000,000. In the absence of Henry Ford, they said, they could not discuss financial affairs.

Personal representatives of Mr. Ford are known to have been in the east during the last few weeks.

Cut Armament in Half and Feed Europe—Miss Addams

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, appearing today before the senate banking and currency committee, advocated cutting army and navy expenditures in two and using the other half, estimated at about $800,000,000, for European relief.

She declared public sentiment was becoming aroused over the failure of congress to take some action looking to the relief of starving Europeans. When one suggested that the people might object to being taxed for the furnishing of food to foreign countries she replied that they would rather have a relief tax than an armament tax.

"It will be a horrible indictment of the good will and the intelligence of the American people if some means is not devised to get food over to the starving people in Europe," she said.

47 BUILDING MEN INDICTED IN U. S. PROBE

Material Firms and Union Heads Hit.

Forty-seven indictments against mill owners, labor union chiefs, and carpenter contractors, charging violation of the anti-trust section of the Sherman law, were returned yesterday by the grand jury before Federal Judge Carpenter.

In a special report the retiring jurors characterized building conditions in Chicago as deplorable and recommended a thorough investigation of the whole building trades industry. District Attorney Clynne said the investigation would be made. Government agents declared the alleged combination had driven $50,000,000 worth of outside business into mill work alone from Chicago in the last three years. This has cost renters from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 a year in increased rentals, they said.

Basis of Indictments.

An agreement entered into by the mill men, carpenter contractors' association, and members of the building trades in 1918, formed the basis for the grand jury action. This provides that only union made materials be used on jobs done by union labor.

The grand jury charges that "the defendants manufacture practically all of the building material manufactured in Chicago, and in order to monopolize the business of supplying builders and building contractors in Chicago with such building material, and to secure excessive prices for their building material, they engaged in a conspiracy among themselves and with the union and contractors."

"That as a direct result of the conspiracy many manufacturers of building materials outside of Illinois were excluded from this market, in which they had sold materials for years prior to the spring of 1918."

Labor Men Named.

Leading the list of indicted labor leaders is William F. Brims, president of the carpenters' district council, and F. C. Bromley, business agent of the carpenters' union. Others in the list are Stanley Muszalski, B. J. G. Wittman, Anton Sommers, James Smith, Joseph B. Fox, Joseph Dusek, John Loris, Thomas F. Flynn, W. G. Schardt, William C. White, Daniel J. Ryan, Joseph Veltman, Charles Wright and Thomas Church.

The following contractors were indicted: D. H. Doyle, A. C. Wehrwein, Frank E. Doherty, William J. Scown, Frank M. Spreenreuter, T. J. McGimsie.

Ruth O'Shea Perfume Case Stirs Doctors

Scientists, as well as the police, confessed themselves baffled yesterday over the weird story told by Ruth O'Shea, the young girl who claims she was rendered senseless and robbed by a mysterious woman who invited her to smell a handkerchief saturated with a fragrant, exotic perfume.

While the police were working in vain for some tangible clue which might lead to the capture of the "perfume woman" medical men even went so far as to brand the girl's story as impossible in accordance with the known effects of drugs that produce anesthesia. Even Dr. David O'Shea, her father, agrees with the others that no known drug would render a person unconscious after only two or three breaths, especially in the open air, and yet Miss O'Shea was in a semi-comatose state for sixteen hours.

Father Believes Girl.

"But I believe that Ruth is telling the truth," he said. "She has never been away from home after 5 o'clock at night unless accompanied by her mother or myself. I have checked up on her story as far as possible and find that she did leave Mercy hospital Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock as she stated."

"I know of no drug that could produce a condition of this kind," said Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner. "Neither other nor chloroform would produce unconsciousness for so long a time."

Police Attack Drug Theory.

"There is no drug or perfume in existence which would have this effect," said Dr. H. A. McGuigan, professor of toxicology at the University of Illinois Medical school. "Even the most potent of anesthetics must be administered frequently to keep a subject under its influence for any length of time."

The drug theory was further attacked by Detective Sergeants Max Schmidt and Joseph McGuire after another talk with Miss O'Shea in her parents' suite at the Somerset hotel, 9099 Sheridan road. They declared they do not now believe the deep cut on her forehead was inflicted when she fell.

"There are several other points in her story that require explanation," said Schmidt. "From the description she gives it is possible the woman may really have been a man in female attire. Miss O'Shea says the woman had high cheek bones and wore a heavy veil. If it was a man he may have held the handkerchief before her eyes and struck her with a weapon of some sort, knocking her unconscious. It would have taken a woman of unusual strength to have dragged her limp form up the alley to the point where she was found Wednesday night."

Too Weak to Talk.

Reporters were refused permission to see Miss O'Shea during the day. Her mother, who is head of the Catholic Women's league, said her daughter was conscious but was threatened with pneumonia. Dr. O'Shea asserted she is out of danger, but too weak and nervous as a result of her experience to be interviewed.

Another point that seems odd to the police is the fact that although Miss O'Shea was robbed of her money and a diamond ring, the thief made no effort to remove her valuable fur coat.

"There are only two theories," said one detective. "One is that Miss O'Shea was slugged by a man in woman's clothes. The other is that the robber possessed some drug more powerful than any known to medical science."

Cite Other Case.

Those who lean to the latter theory point to a case reported last December when Miss Katherine Long, 115 South Seelye avenue, and Miss Adelaide Stein, 3319 South Racine avenue, claimed to have been drugged on two separate occasions by a woman who invited them into a taxi. The women on those occasions, had a male companion.

$185,300 TAKEN AT MT. VERNON IS RECOVERED

Money Hidden About Preacher's Garage.

Guy Kyle, intellectual and leading free thinker of Mount Vernon, Ill., was held under heavy guard in his home last night following the recovery of $185,300 of the $212,000 in cash stolen last Friday when four registered mail sacks were lifted from a truck at the rear of the Mount Vernon postoffice.

An egg crate containing $100,000 in bills was discovered in the attic of Kyle's home. Another box holding $75,000 in neatly wrapped packages rewarded a raid on the loft of one of Kyle's automobile repair shops. About $1,600 in currency was found in his second garage, and $3,400 of the loot was taken from his pockets.

Late last night Kyle led postal inspectors back to the garage and disclosed the hiding place of $5,300 in additional bank notes. He admitted he had been connected with the robbery, but refused to disclose the names of the rest of the gang.

Grilled 3 Hours; Mum.

Kyle maintained a stoical silence through three hours of grilling last night following his first confession. Inspector Hitchcock, who, with Inspectors Gould and Rider, rounded up the hidden loot, declared he has never seen so stubborn a prisoner.

"After we had shown him all our evidence in this case, taken him repeatedly to the scene of the robbery and to his garages where much of the money was found, he did admit that he had been in on the mail job," said the inspector.

"We could get no more from him than the simple statement, 'I was in on the job.' Then he took us over to his main garage, went directly to an old desk in one corner, opened a lower drawer, and handed out a small box containing $5,300.

Refuses to Reveal Aids.

"That's all you can possibly hope to find," he told us. We have not been able so far to make him tell the names of any other members of his gang. If, indeed, there were any others. Through implication he has led us to believe that the securities still missing have been taken by some one else, but he won't say who.

"Of course it is too early to hope for a complete confession. We've been pretty busy rounding up this fortune in its queer hiding places. We hope to get further details concerning the robbery from the prisoner when we get the loose ends cleared up."

Federal agents combed the town last night for some trace of approximately $27,000 in non-negotiable securities, which, they declared, may have been destroyed by Kyle and his crew after the robbery. No further arrests had been made at a late hour last night, although postal authorities do not believe the robbery could have been carried out by Kyle alone.

Two Warrants Issued Here.

While the federal net was sweeping Mt. Vernon, federal warrants were issued for John McFadden and William Conroy, arrested Thursday in a raid at 184 West Adams street. They are charged with being implicated in the $500,000 registered mail theft at the Union station recently. Three additional suspects were taken by detectives and federal inspectors in raids during the afternoon and held incommunicado for questioning by Acting Chief Postal Inspector A. E. Gerner.

Inspectors also examined the gold bonds valued at $21,000 found Thursday by D. F. Crimmins in the hallway at 208 North Wells street, but declared that they could not be positively identified as part of the Union station loot until registered numbers of the stolen packages are more thoroughly checked.

Halt Robbery in Michigan.

Five additional mail bandit suspects were rounded up by Capt. Charles Johnson, special agent for the Michigan Central in Niles, Mich. He led a posse which scoured the country near Lawton, Mich., after a station employe had discovered rails piled on the tracks ahead of early morning mail trains. The men arrested gave as their names: John Lynd, Charles Wilson, Charles Higgins, Thomas Riley, and Ed Harvey. Chicago police last night had not succeeded in linking them with police records.

The Mount Vernon cleanup was made under the direction of Inspector F. J. Gould of the Chicago office. He was approached by Loren Williamson, Kyle's partner in the automobile repair business.

"Kyle's spending a lot of money these days," he said, "and he has

WILL HARDING NAME HUGHES OR BOW TO SENATE?

Desperate Fight Starts to "Kill" Dawes Also.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Chattanooga, Tenn. (En route to Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.)—Whether Mr. Harding, as president, will cling to his own ideas about what he wants to do in a governmental and diplomatic way, or whether he will yield to the group of senatorial minds with which he has worked in the past and which he has promised to consult, may be foretold by the developments of the next few weeks in the cabinet situation.

He carries with him today on his journey problems which must be solved. With these alternatives in mind, Mr. Harding decided to make Charles Evans Hughes his secretary of state and indicated as much to the former chief justice.

Told Taft of Selection.
Mr. Harding told several friends, including Mr. Taft and Mr. Root, of this selection. The reaction to this public news that went out showed a strong group in the senate, including Mr. Hughes' old friends, opposed Mr. Hughes. They have been saying so frequently, and it is said, a few have gone so far as to declare they would not work with Mr. Hughes on international affairs.

One of Mr. Harding's wishes is to have harmony between the executive and legislative branches and to refrain, in appearance at least, from dictating to the senate. The friends of Mr. Root have taken new heart and are renewing their powerful drive to have him appointed.

The question is whether Mr. Harding will yield at the last minute to this pressure. If so, it will foreshadow much of his administrative action. Those close to Mr. Harding think it about as likely to one shot that he will stick to his own selection.

Start Drive Against Dawes.
The same situation, in a lesser degree, exists in regard to the appointment of Charles G. Dawes as secretary of the treasury. A few weeks ago Mr. Dawes was almost a certainty. Then an enemies, some of them in the same senatorial group, got busy and no one knows what the outcome will be.

These senators object to him because of his alleged support of John Skelton Williams for confirmation as controller of the currency, which has been made a case partisan matter.

The opposition of the Chicago city hall did not help Mr. Dawes, although Mr. Harding said that Mayor Thompson, on his recent visit to Marion, had merely suggested Mr. Dawes by name, but that there was a strong political organization in Illinois that did not want to have enemies put in a position to punish it.

The latest move is to try to shelve Mr. Dawes to the federal reserve board.

Open "Revolt" in Senate.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—(Special.)—The senate opposition to Charles E. Hughes as secretary of state has assumed such proportions that it is now described as a "revolt." For several days the senators kept their state of mind a secret, but now that news of their attitude is known they are not so reticent.

All those senators who preferred Senator Knox or David Jayne Hill are now concentrating on Elihu Root, believing Mr. Root is the only man to whom Mr. Harding will turn.

OUTRAGES LAID TO ANTI-REDS IN SIBERIA DENIED
Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service. HAREN, Jan. 21.—The Siberian correspondent for the newspaper Zaria, after a thorough investigation of reports of a ferocious misconduct on the part of troops commanded by Gen. Kappel, including executions without trials, states that they are without foundation and are clearly a renewal of hostilities in the far east.

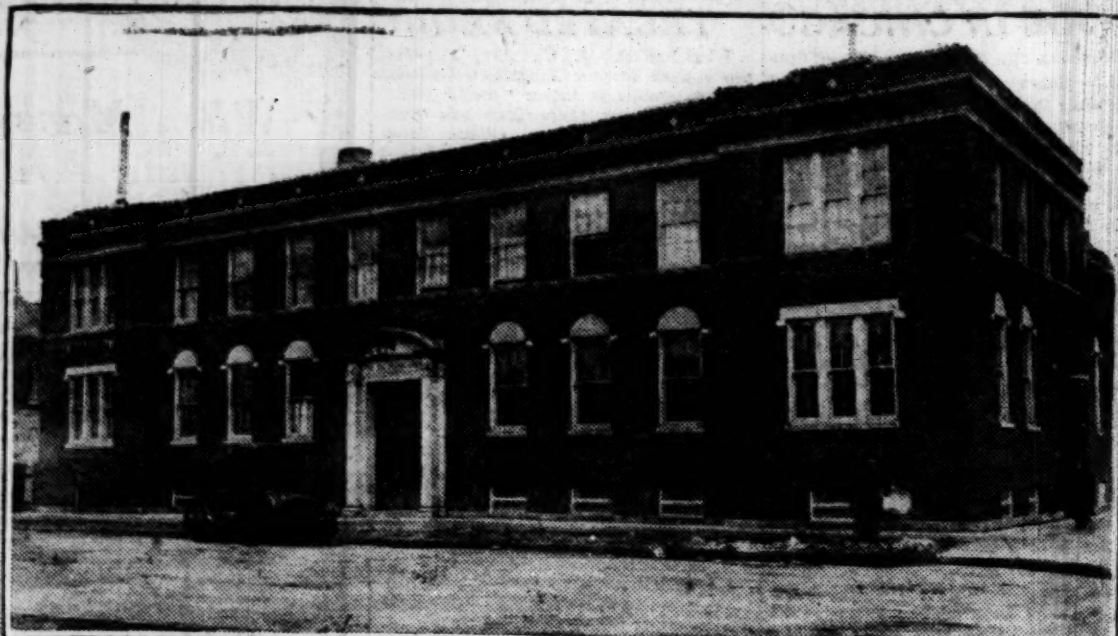

The Russian Gols, commenting on the possibilities of renewed fighting, says the Reds perceive the failure of their buffer state plans and are afraid to demobilize their army. Also that they are likely to seek a pretext for war with Japan, thereby arousing national feeling and prolonging their own existence.

Reports stating that the Reds are concentrating at Khabarovsk and in Trans-Baikal are continuing to come in.

Argentina Sends Relief to Austria's Destitute
Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service. BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 21.—The German steamer Bahia Blanca sailed for Hamburg yesterday with 10,000 tons of food, clothing, and bedding for Austria's poverty-stricken. The relief cargo valued at 5,000,000 pesos (the normal value of a peso is 96.5 cents) and was shipped by a commission appointed by the minister of finance with funds voted by the Argentine congress.

Thirteen new consuls assigned to various European ports also sailed on the ship.

LATIN SOCIALISTS DOWN REDS, WHO BOLT CONVENTION

LEHORN, Italy, Jan. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Communist faction of the Italian Socialist party, defeated in its attempt to secure endorsement by the party of the third international of Moscow, bolted the Socialist convention here this morning.

The Communists on quitting the convention formed the Italian Communist party, which advocates violence if necessary to attain its ends.

The vote on the question of joining the Moscow international, taken yesterday, was officially announced this forenoon. The figures representing the number of party members for whom the delegates cast their votes were as follows:

Communists (against adherence)... 58,900
After the announcement had been made, Amadeo Bordiga, leader of the Communists, mounted the platform and said:

"The Communists are not going to check up the votes, but they know there were irregularities in the voting."

No Law to Prevent Woman Walking Streets in Tights
Ottawa, Can., Jan. 21.—Women may walk along the streets of Ottawa in tights. There is no law to prevent.

So ruled Inspector McLaughlin today, after complaint that a woman who was "old enough to know better" had been seen on the main streets with a daringly short skirt.

"The police cannot interfere as long as the body is covered," the inspector declared.

Hope's Haven

THE new "slum settlement" of the Salvation Army, Thirty-first street and Normal avenue, was dedicated yesterday by Commander William Peart. The building will house the settlement corps, a dispensary, a day nursery, a free laundry, and a relief station. A free dental dispensary will be opened in the near future. For some years the Salvation Army has assisted several hundred families in the vicinity and the work grew to such proportions that the old quarters were inadequate. A Sunday school with an attendance of 150 children and a weekly sewing circle for mothers are other features of the settlement.

'BE STEADFAST,' DE VALERA PLEA TO IRISH PEOPLE

Sees Freedom Ahead for Emerald Isle.

DUBLIN, Jan. 21.—Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," in a message to the Irish people, appeals to them to remain steadfast in the republican cause.

"Nobody can be base enough to barter away that for which our noblest have given their lives," he says, "so, though the moment be dark and the world unheeding, confident of final success, let us face the new year of the republic ready to endure whatever may be necessary to win for those coming after us the priceless boon of a permanent peace and secure liberty in their native land."

Irish Slay Six Officers.
Yesterday's ambush at Glenwood, in which District Inspector Clarke, a sergeant, and four constables were killed and a sergeant and constable wounded, occurred in the afternoon as a party of ten members of the police force was patrolling a road skirted by a wood. From this cover a strong attacking force poured a deadly fire on the police lorry. The police replied to the fire, but early in the affray Inspector Clarke and five of his men were killed. The remainder continued the fight until two of the four had been wounded. The remaining two escaped.

Take Dead Men's Rifles.
The ambushing party took possession of the dead and wounded men's weapons and the ammunition they carried, burned the motor car, and disappeared. A strong force of the police and military later searched the whole countryside, but made no arrests.

Inspector Clarke was a native of Lurgan, near Belfast. He lived in the Windpeg district before the war, joined the Canadian mounted rifles, and, with three of his brothers, who also were domiciled in Canada, served throughout the war unhurt. He was transferred to the Irish rifles on demobilization.

Arrest Entire Board.

Today the members gave out a long statement charging military seizure of their government by American forces and stating that they were sure as soon as the Spanish American republics understood the "injustice" with which Dominica had been treated by the United States all would bring force to bear upon Washington to obtain sovereignty and justice for Santo Domingo.

Their propaganda is being given widespread publicity by the local newspapers.

He also confessed to other thefts and involved two other high school students, who also have confessed.

Father Furnished Bail.
Ringle was arraigned last night on a charge of highway robbery and his bond, $2,000, was furnished by his father and he was taken home. This morning about 7 o'clock he was found dying.

The youth's arrest followed receipt by the police of a note he wrote to one of his associates. On a newspaper clipping regarding the holdup he had written that the story was in error in two or three instances. The note found its way to the police and the arrest followed.

Desperate Over Disgrace.
This morning the sound of a falling body was heard by the family down stairs. In his room was found this note: "For myself, I could endure it. I could accept my penalty. ## WOMEN TELL OF RAIDS IN ERIN BY BRITISH FORCES Say Efforts Are Made to Raise Religious Issue.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—England is fostering religious intolerance and suppressing industry in Ireland in an effort to prevent self-determination, Miss Louise Bennett, a Protestant woman from Dublin, today told the committee of one hundred investigating conditions in Ireland.

Attacks by the British military on Catholic churches and on nuns and priests are increasing, Miss Bennett said, with the intention of reviving the spirit of religious intolerance as between Catholic and Protestant with the view of preventing Irish opinion from uniting.

In discussing her charges of the suppression of industry, which she asserted, involves the question of the satisfactory solution of internal problems, the witness described the destruction of creameries and other cooperative industries.

She Says It's Ridiculous.
It was "a ridiculously foolish policy," she said, "which permitted the destruction of an industry that could sell butter, cheaply to the English people who now are forced to pay exorbitant prices."

Similar testimony was given by Miss Caroline M. Townsend. Both are members of the Irish Women's International league. Some of the letters they presented, Miss Bennett said, were from business men of Belfast, and she added that their lives would be in danger should their names be published.

Miss Bennett told of two recent alleged forcible entrances into Dublin nurseries, one of which was of an exclusive Catholic order which excluded even relatives of the nuns from visiting the building, allowing communication only through iron barred doors.

"Republican" Meets Crisis.
She described the functioning of the Sinn Fein government and declared that the success with which the "provisional Irish republic" through its land courts met the crisis from "cattle driving," in which peasants drove herds from pastures and seized the lands, proved that the Irish people could settle their own internal problems more successfully than outside authority.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

ARM U. S. FIRST, THEN ALL DISARM, HENRY WHITE IDEA

Ex-Envoy. Says Taxes
Oppress World.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—Henry White, another of the American commissioners who helped draft the treaty of Versailles, told the house naval committee today the time was ripe for world disarmament. He said the United States should initiate the movement.

Mr. White was ambassador to France when Theodore Roosevelt was president.

Mr. White said the people of the world are "crying for some agreement" to limit armaments to reduce taxes.

Discussing the proposed "naval holiday," he said the United States should be at the top of its naval power when the disarmament discussion begins. He suggested that the relative sizes of navies could be fixed by agreement at a conference which might reveal "the right-of some nations—Great Britain for instance—to a larger navy than others."

France to Hold Strength.
Because of the threatened spread of bolshevism, the witness said, France might object to disarmament on land. He added "the state of chaos" in which Germany had been kept over reparations was doing more to open the way to bolshevism than any other single factor.

Any disarmament conference, he said, should be called by Harding, when president, because lack of time between now and March 4 would prevent President Wilson from taking an initiative that would be regarded seriously abroad.

Mr. White opposed a restricted conference on general disarmament. Such a conference, he said, should include France and Italy as well as the United States, Great Britain and Japan, but discussions on reduction of naval building only should be limited, at least for the present, to Great Britain, Japan and the United States.

Fears Another Babel.
"I think it would result in chaos if all nations of the world were to be represented at the proposed naval conference," he said.

Mr. White said the expression "open covenants, openly arrived at" was a beautiful theory, but impracticable because some negotiations between nations must be secret, while he always had inclined to the theory that "war knows no law." Thus he never had been able to place faith in The Hague conferences.

Gen. Pershing's views will be sought next Tuesday.

Offers Plan to Senate.

While the hearings were in progress before the house committee, Senator Francis, Republican, Maryland, presented to the senate a proposal that the United States, Great Britain, and Japan agree to a reduction by 1935 of one-fourth of their relative naval strength on next July 1.

Senator Francis embodied his proposal in an amendment to the pending resolution of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, directing the president to call a conference for a naval holiday. The Maryland senator's resolution would create a commission of naval experts of the three powers to arrange gradual reductions between now and 1935.

The rails were removed before the train arrived.

EX-PRESIDENT OF GUATEMALA NOT TREATED BADLY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—Reports that former President Cabrera of Guatemala is being "maltreated" by the present authorities are "unfounded," declared a report from Acting Secretary Davis, transmitted to the senate today by President Wilson. The department confirmed, however, statements that Cabrera was in prison and that since his confinement his home had been looted of property estimated at "from one to several hundred thousands of dollars."

The American charge at Guatemala City visited Cabrera Dec. 20 and found him "in a spacious room, the ventilation of which is provided by a door, a skylight, and a very small window," the report said.

Thirteen of Cabrera's former soldiers were killed by a mob after his abdication, the report stated.

New York, Jan. 21.—Investigative affairs were informed that the $266,000 item alleged charged up as per the Charles M. Schwab, Bethlehem Steel company, to the shipping board. This testimony was given by John Barton Pay to the shipping board. The item, mentioned yesterday by Col. E. H. general controller of "charged to profit of Bethlehem Shipbuilding." Mr. Gillen said a letter from Col. E. H. Perley Morris & Co., firm which Col. Abadie covered the voucher, his presence that the wrong with that item.

Mr. Schwab himself unexpectedly before the committee the day and Abadie at his command statements made by Abadie, as a result of Schwab afterward to get that his "work" been wiped out.

He told the committee one to show on the Bethlehem Shipbuilding voucher, such as Abadie, as a result of personal expenses against ship construction.

Mr. Schwab admitted voucher "for such expenses" it was not by the Bethlehem corporation, that no part of shape, or form, was the ships of the ship which the government.

When President Wilson assumed charge of the Fleet corporation, Mr. Schwab was reluctant to fear that his dual of that organization shipbuilding interests for the government was irresponsible or senseless fault. He said every possible step to get that in the reconstructed as planned benefit or interest.

I gave my very best and its work, and it grew so deep as to be after this support as be any form of criticism I feel it so deeply to express myself to you stated the views I was the denial of this and I wanted to come earliest possible moment.

SCHWAB VOUCHER NOT PAID BY NAVY, SHIPPING BOARD

Steel Man Bitterly Resents Abadie Charge.

New York, Jan. 21.—The Walsh committee investigating shipping board affairs was informed late today that the $260,000 item alleged to have been charged up as personal expenses of Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel company, was not charged by the shipping board or navy.

This testimony was given by Martin J. Gillen, former special assistant to John Barton Payne, chairman of the shipping board. He declared that the item, mentioned in testimony yesterday by Col. E. H. Abadie, former general controller of the board, was "charged to profit and loss by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation."

Mr. Gillen said a representative of Perley Morse & Co., the accounting firm which Col. Abadie said had discovered the voucher, had declared in his presence that there was nothing wrong with that item.

Mr. Schwab Testifies.
Mr. Schwab himself had appeared unexpectedly before the committee earlier in the day and with all the emphasis at his command had denied the statements made yesterday by Col. Abadie, as a result of which, Mr. Schwab afterward told reporters, he felt that his "work of a lifetime had been wiped out."

He told the committee he denied any use to show on the records of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation any voucher, such as had been described by Col. Abadie, in which his personal expenses were charged against ship construction for the government.

Mr. Schwab admitted there was a voucher "for such expense," but he asserted it was not reimbursed to him by the Bethlehem corporation and, further, that no part of it, in any manner, shape, or form, was charged against the ships of the ship department for which the government paid the bill.

Reluctant to Take Post.
When President Wilson invited him to assume charge of the Emergency Fleet corporation, Mr. Schwab testified, he was reluctant, because of his fear that his dual position as head of that organization and head of the shipbuilding interests engaged in work for the government would invite "some irresponsible or sensational person to find fault." He said he had taken every possible step to avoid doing anything that in the remotest could be construed as planned for his own benefit or interest.

"I gave my very life to this cause and its work, and it is a source of regret so deep as to be inexpressible that after this support and after this service any form of criticism should arise. I feel it so deeply that I can hardly express myself to you about it. I have stated the views I wanted to state, and the denial of this awful insinuation, and I wanted to come before you at the earliest possible moment."

Abadie Recalled.
When Mr. Schwab finished his testimony Col. Abadie was recalled to the stand. He told the committee there was nothing he could say that, in his opinion, would make proper correction of the statement made to him by responsible auditors of the general controller's department, who must have been aware of the significance of this information. He asserted that he had tried to avoid sensationalism in his testimony by purposely withholding the name of Mr. Schwab at the time he mentioned the discovery of the voucher for $260,000 covering "personal expenses of an official of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation," of which

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

MRS. MARGARETTA BROWN. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

DURING the last six years Mrs. Margaretta Brown of 124 W. 4th street has served as nurse, governess and playmate for 50,000 children—a task that has taken her entire time on three afternoons and three evenings each week and for which she has received not so much as a dime in pay. Mrs. Brown has charge of the nursery at the county hospital.

No child under 14 years old is permitted to visit the hospital wards, but despite the rule hundreds of mothers bring babies and young children with them when they come to visit patients. To meet this condition, Mrs. Brown and twenty-five other women organized and established the nursery in 1915. Since then the other women have quit, leaving Mrs. Brown to handle the job alone. On an average she cares for 673 children a month—more than 8,000 a year. The nursery is open Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday afternoons and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings.

"The joy of caring for and amusing the little ones is reward enough for anyone," said Mrs. Brown. "I have been doing this work ever since my husband died and it makes me forget my loneliness."

$100,000 is alleged to have been charged to ship construction.

"If all he has said is true," said Col. Abadie, "I owe him the deepest of apologies."

Stunned at Attack.
Chairman Joseph Walsh had asked Mr. Schwab if his appearance before the committee was not at his own request and possibly at your own pretty strenuous insistence. Mr. Schwab not having been called to appear until next week. The witness replied: "My demand, absolutely."

Mr. Schwab said he was stunned at the attack that had been made on his reputation by Col. Abadie. Upon learning that he was not to be heard by the committee before the first of next week Mr. Schwab decided straightway that he must appear before the shipping board committee immediately.

Faces His Accuser.
Just before he took the stand, Mr. Schwab had Col. Abadie pointed out to him. He went over to where the colonel was standing and was overheard to say:

"You are Col. Abadie? I don't believe I know you and I don't recall having ever met you. You have ruined my reputation. You have done me an irreparable injury. Why did you do it?"

Col. Abadie's reply could not be heard distinctly, but in substance he explained to Mr. Schwab what he subsequently told the committee, namely, that he tried to avoid the introduction of Mr. Schwab's name.

Mr. Schwab was greatly agitated. Later, while discussing the situation in which he finds himself, he said: "Isn't it rotten to have a thing like this happen to you?"

FALL FATAL TO POLICEMAN.

MONTREAL GIVES FOOD TO HUNGRY WAR VETERANS

Will Serve Meals at Any Hour.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—The city tonight notified its unemployed that free meals would be served to them at any hour of the day or night, but disorders would be suppressed.

This notice was issued after ex-service men had gone to restaurants and demanded food. In one case they dispersed without disorder after food had been served and at another place left at sight of a large guard of police.

Police leaders then closed the headquarters of the ex-service men's unemployment association. Paraders were searched for weapons, but no arrests made.

Decision of the city to serve free food followed refusal of many unemployed to accept snow shoveling jobs at what they called "starvation wages."

Will Employ More.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 21.—The Pittsburgh Steel company next Monday will resume three open hearth furnaces, the wire mill, rod mill, and part of the mill.

"DADDY, DEAR— Can't We Save Them?"

"Look, Daddy. See! They're starving. Millions of little kiddies, just like me. They're so thin and hungry-looking. See how skinny their little arms and legs are. Lips blue with cold. Boney faces. They're so hungry. It must hurt to starve, Daddy, and I am so sorry for them."

If I were over there in Europe, dying like them, 'cause there's nothing to eat, wouldn't you and mamma just bless some good, kind people who would take care of me?

Can't we be kind people, Daddy, and take care of them?

Just think, they'd give anything for only the scraps we throw away. And look, Daddy, all that we have. Should we have so much, and they have none?

Please—just for me—let's do something to save them. See! It says that every ten dollars we give really saves some little child's life. And just think, one hundred dollars will save ten lives.

Let's save some lives, Daddy—please!

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE!

You sympathize, YES, but sympathy alone, shifting the giving to others, saves no single child from its yawning grave. We must ACT—QUICKLY. For many of these unfortunates it is already too late. They will be dead before help reaches them. But there are still millions of others who need us. Leaves and bark have been stripped from trees for food. Parents kill themselves to escape the sight of their little ones' suffering. The duty comes to each of us. Your gifts will save human lives.

"The Theater, the Drama, the Girls"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

In the remote case that I am ever asked to pose an academic ferula before the pupils of the Medill School of Journalism, I shall begin by warning my classes against the works of George Jean Nathan.

A chipper feuilletonist is Mr. Nathan, and a vigorous critic whose insolent sociabilities are frequently impeded by honesty of opinion and a solemn affection for the theater. He has erudition, ideas, morals, urbanity, courage, and a taste so nimble that it permits him the performance of all kinds of flea-like feats in his judgment of the arts. He is our foremost essayist of the drama, surpassing, I think, even Clayton Hamilton, Walter Prichard Eaton, and Brander Matthews in notoriety. But he has an insidious style of composition, which, by the hypnosis of its words and phrasing, fascinates the youthful and unwary journalist, and tempts him to dire endeavors at imitation.

Mr. Nathan's wanton ways with words are not to be resisted by the adolescent penman who reads him. Every article he puts forth is a mess of little Nathans, who call a newspaper a "gazette" and say "hocus-pocus" every line or two. Recently there were half a dozen reviews of oddballers in the Chicago gazette who trudged after him so assiduously that it became necessary to forbid them reading the Smart Set, which Mr. Nathan and Mr. Benckow own and write, but which they did not name.

My early experience with Mr. Nathan was in the innocent years ago when, after an imprudent perusal of one of his mesmeric criticisms, I found his word "homewoggle" proceeding from my already warty vocabulary. Try as I did to remove it therefrom, it resisted all my conscientious acids, and for months "homewoggle," with similar verbal preferences, affronted the landscape of my jargon. Thereupon I became affrighted at Mr. Nathan's nefarious influence, and I ceased to read him, until last night I found upon my desk his new volume, entitled "The Theater, the Drama, the Girls." For weeks, therefore, I suspect, I shall be referring to plays as "boob-rufflers," "hick-fetters," "jake-tickers," and "yokel-traps," to Augustus Thomas as a "molasses spie," to Prof. Bakewell of Harvard as an "intellectual bim the Button Man," to other reviewers as the "greenhorn hazillitry," and to "Richard III." as "The Passing Show of 1432."

Since Mr. Nathan exercises an influence greater than that of any other member of the major punditry (you see an inventory of his preferences and repugnances may be interesting. He likes Shakespeare and the legs of Ann Pennington and many others. He considers Mr. Coban a more expert playwright than Euripides or Calderon, and he thinks Lope de Vega one of the worst that ever lived. He has a venomous loathing for Percy MacKaye as an artist, calling him the American drama's Exalted Grand Monohogob of Ennui, and bestows upon him a garland of gooseberries for his esoteric talents in converting a wide-awake audience into a congregation of sound snoozers.

Augustus Thomas impresses him as a hamsawst with the mind of a sentimental Harvard boy. William Vaughan Moody's plays are Rachmaninoff on a barrel organ, and he can see nothing in the acting of Nance O'Neill, Robert Mantell, and Walter Hampden. Fritz Lieber he believes to be one of the best players of the American stage. He has no use for the Drama League, nor for the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Charles Knickerbocker, the Polles Bergeres, the men's washroom in the Casino theater, Spanish drama, E. H. Sothern's Hamlet, or the dramatic criticisms of Arthur Symonds, Romain Rolland, Richard Bunn, and many, many others. He venerates Moliere, however. Like Mark Twain, he says he would rather look at Rosie Quinn with scarcely any clothes on than at John Phillip Sousa in his full uniform.

He condemns the Broadway hazards and the Loop sarcees because in their reviews of "The Ramous Mrs. Fair" they greeted "a comely little flapper named Elsie Janis" as a "breathtaking artist." Elsie Janis is merely "a song and dance girl" to him, "a vaudeville performer," and he has a tranquil contempt for the foaming fits and spasms of the critics who estimate her otherwise. Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" is pretty poor stuff, a comic and commercial desecration of the most beloved American president. And Mr. Nathan adds the inspiration for Arnold Bennett's enthusiastic guaranty of the play was in the fact that Mr. Bennett "had considerable financial interest in the Hammersmith theater."

INFORMALLY

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Who is the father of our country? George Washington? Not a bit of it. Thomas Paine.

Who was the first suffragist? Dr. Anna Howard Shaw? Wrong again. Thomas Paine.

Who emancipated the slaves? Abraham Lincoln? All wrong. Thomas Paine.

Who established the United States treasury? Alexander Hamilton? Of course not. Thomas Paine.

Thomas Paine, author of "The Age of Reason" and "Common Sense," revolutionary days, radical and pamphleteer, did everything but win the world war, according to Guido Bruno, who came all the way from Greenwich village in a dinner coat, striped trousers, grey spats, white kid gloves and a purple tie to tell the Dill Pickle club about it the other evening.

Mary Hastings Bradley will talk on "Adventures in Literature" tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at the Old Tower shop, 151 East Chicago avenue, at the second of a series of informal meetings which are being held Sunday afternoons under the auspices of the Woman's National Journalistic register.

For years Irving Bachevalier voted with the anti-cinema literary group and kept his novels from screen presentation. He has, however, finally succumbed to the lure of the shadow sheet. A film company is negotiating for the purchase of "The Light in the Clearing," which is a story of a young man's life and love after death will value this contribution.

"Personal Recollections of Andrew Carnegie," by Frederick Lynch, educational secretary of the Church Peace Union, is a friendly record of Mr. Carnegie's benevolence, his greater public moments, and his amiable and reflective personality. Dr. Lynch was in close association with Mr. Carnegie and is able to report not only the public acts and utterances of this remarkable man but many of the hours of confidential intercourse. Some idea may be gained of the methods he followed in distributing his vast fortune.

Again, The Spirit Life

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

William Dunsenath Eaton, veteran newspaper man and playwright, issues through Stratton & Van Vleet of Chicago, a book with the interesting title, "The Spirit Life; or, Do We Die?" To this question Mr. Eaton is personally prepared to return a firm negative. Years of experimentation in which he has encountered plenty of disappointment and disillusion, leave him, nevertheless, fixed in the conviction that life endures, that the dead are cognizant of those they have loved and left, and that they frequently communicate with the living. The record of Mr. Eaton's experiences is unquestionably sincere, is often brilliant, and not infrequently astonishing. The great company of those who are seeking for signs and tokens of the continuity of life and love after death will value this contribution.

The record of Mr. Eaton's experiences is unquestionably sincere, is often brilliant, and not infrequently astonishing. The great company of those who are seeking for signs and tokens of the continuity of life and love after death will value this contribution.

William Dunsenath Eaton, veteran newspaper man and playwright, issues through Stratton & Van Vleet of Chicago, a book with the interesting title, "The Spirit Life; or, Do We Die?" To this question Mr. Eaton is personally prepared to return a firm negative. Years of experimentation in which he has encountered plenty of disappointment and disillusion, leave him, nevertheless, fixed in the conviction that life endures, that the dead are cognizant of those they have loved and left, and that they frequently communicate with the living. The record of Mr. Eaton's experiences is unquestionably sincere, is often brilliant, and not infrequently astonishing. The great company of those who are seeking for signs and tokens of the continuity of life and love after death will value this contribution.

The famous old Potter Palmer residence at 1350 Lake Shore drive will be the setting tonight for the Arts club's third annual ball. It is a fitting place, for the late Mrs. Palmer was as well known as a patron of art as she was as the social leader of Chicago, and her collection of art works is a noted one. The ball will be held in the art galleries. The guests will wear capes and masks which will be doffed at midnight.

Charles S. Dewey and William E. Crow Jr. are in charge of the collation. Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson of the buffet supper, Evan Evans of the souvenir programs, and Frederick M. Grant of general arrangements.

Many dinner parties will be given preceding the ball. Mr. and Mrs. David Adler of 11 East Elm street will have twenty guests, and Countess Bolognesi of 1220 Astor street will have ten guests at the table. Miss Agnes Foreman of 609 Rush street will have a dinner at her residence. Others who will give dinners are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Durbin and Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Mr. and Mrs. American Franklin Callahan will give a buffet supper, followed by dancing, at their residence, 2305 Commonwealth avenue, next Saturday night for their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Miller Callahan of Evanston. The junior Mrs. Callahan formerly was Miss Anne Orr of Nashville, Tenn.

Announcement is made of the birth of a son, Frederick W. Keith Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Keith of 222 East Pearson street. The baby was born Thursday at St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Keith was formerly Miss Elizabeth Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howell Cummings of Philadelphia. Mr. Keith is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edson Keith.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Cornmeal Puff.

The double cooking of cornmeal refines it so much that in many cases an eater might have to stop to think what cereal had been used in the product. More than one mother wrote me two or three years ago about the satisfaction her child or children took in the following puff baked in the smaller sized muffin tins.

Scald one cup of milk. Add to it one tablespoon of butter, a saltspoon of salt or about a quarter of a teaspoon, and one-half cup of cornmeal. Stir the two together over a bit of fire until thick. Cool and add to the mixture one-fourth cup of flour sifted with a teaspoon or two of baking powder and two tablespoons of sugar. Add beaten yolks of eggs, mix them thoroughly in, and finally fold in the whites.

Drop into hot cream pans and bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. The expert cook can get on without any baking powder. The one who first tries the puffs might just as well use two teaspoons. The general rule is: The less expert the cook the more baking powder she will need. The heavy or awkward hand is not likely to get fairly light batters. It is not necessary to put sugar in these puffs. With two tablespoons of sugar they are pleasant enough to eat without butter, and with a little more they would approximate a cup cake, or at any rate the sweetest of muffins.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: At the Saturday Night Dance.

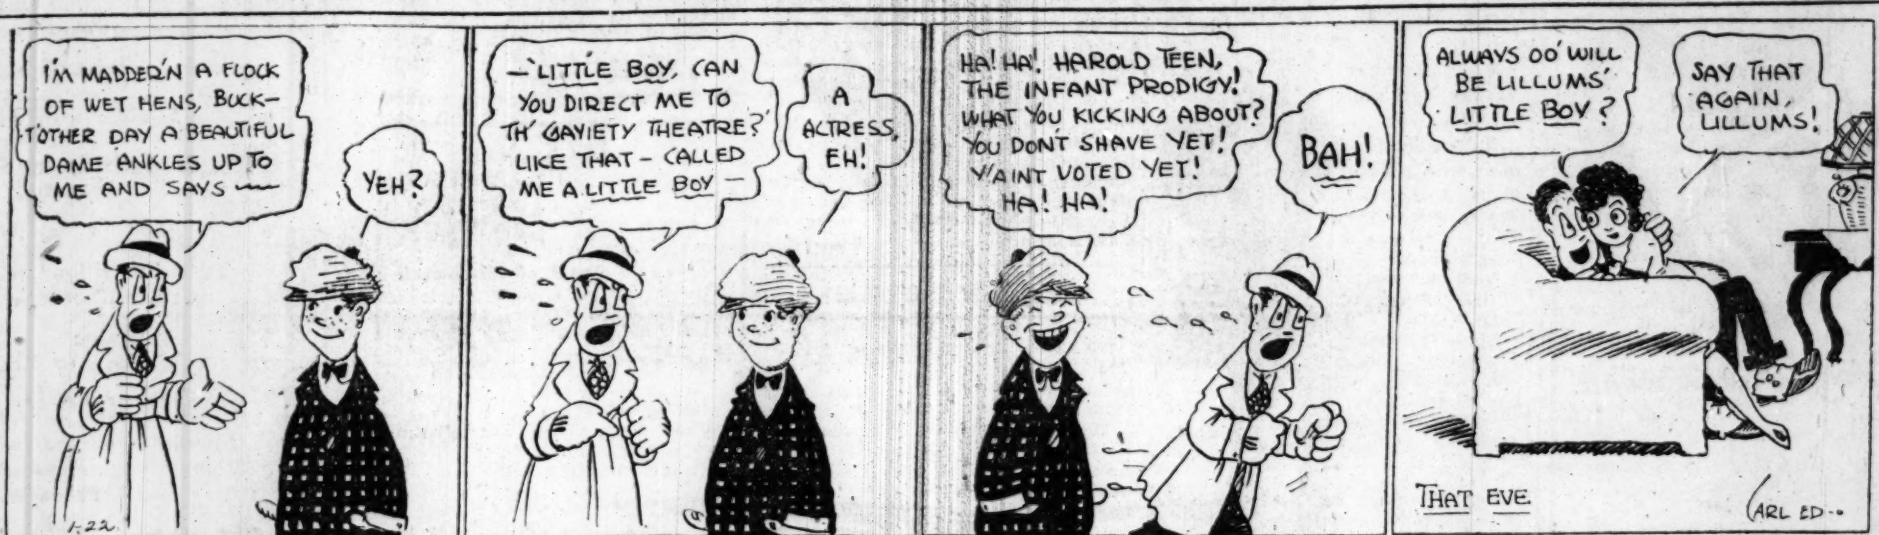

"There's plenty of fellas here we know," said Pat as she surveyed the throng of gyrating couples in the throes of a jazzy fox-trot.

"Good night! Here comes Mr. Egg himself!" warned Pat, and turning Winnie saw the self-satisfied Bill Blab marching down the corridor, headed straight for them.

Bowing gallantly to Winnie he asked, "Ah, there, Cutie, may I have the next dance?"

"Sure, if you can find a partner," answered Winnie sweetly.

HAROLD TEEN—LILLUMS COULD CALL HIM ANYTHING!

"A ACTRESS, EH!"

"HA! HA! HAROLD TEEN, THE INFANT PRODIGY! WHAT YOU KICKING ABOUT? YOU DON'T SHAVE YET! Y'AIN'T VOTED YET! HA! HA!"

"BAH!"

"ALWAYS OO' WILL BE LILLUMS' LITTLE BOY?"

"SAY THAT AGAIN, LILLUMS!"

Just Too Awful.

I was invited by a man to dine at a fashionable hotel, and spent hours with my toilet that I might look my best. I removed my veil at once when seated at the table, and imagine my embarrassment when a few moments later I discovered I had unconsciously removed my hat also.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Might Try Teasing.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going out with a fellow whom I really love for sometime, but I am gradually becoming discouraged, as he is continuously praising me, and always boasting. Will you please tell me how I can stop him?"

"Troubled."

"Can't you try a little teasing when he begins the boasting and bragging? You might do it deftly enough to carry the message home without breaking off friendly relations. Is it not tiresome to have to hear people talk about themselves? The truly great men never have to do it."

Director Mary Ends

'No Encore' Rule for Baklanoff, Muratore

BY RUTH MILLER.

The first visible sign, at least to our operative investigators, of the new director's authority was manifest Thursday night when Mary Garden turned thumbs down on the no encore rule.

Its head came off after Baklanoff's "Tovarish" aria. It was then that the audience literally stormed, without the least sign of abatement, until Miss Garden's strong fine hand gave the repeat signal. And its withering corpse was carried out and buried after Muratore's "Flower Song."

Two encores in one act. What more could we ask for?

No one can sing, like Muratore, does, and Thursday this giant among tenors flung out that magnificent voice with its red gold tone as he never had before. Baklanoff was more than the dramatic apex of the irresistible triangle. He was an Escamille dominating the insolent Carmen by the glitter of power and gold and the fascination of glorious brute force.

And Mary Garden? No other Carmen recorded ever stood up during the famous card scene, going through its tawdry trickery contemptuously. And no one ever greeted the prophecy of death with such sardonic indifference.

"One knew that death or the fear of it would never touch this Carmen. When others play it there is always a hint of the bravado of the inevitable manner. After the second act Miss Garden received an ovation the like of which I quote the operative perennials—she or anybody else had never had before on that stage."

To judge from the utterly changed atmosphere of the last week's opera audiences, it would seem that at last Chicago has what it wants in the way of operatic directors.

Dick came into the kitchen one morning, and it was evident from his general appearance he had been with a boy equally aggressive. His mother looked at him in horror as, with his cap pulled down over a blackened eye and his little fists clenched, he said: "O, I tell you, mamma, I'm a tough guy."

SHERMAN MAKES SHARP ATTACK ON PACKING LAW

Maine Senator Joins in Fight on U. S. Control.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The Kenyon-Kendrick bill to regulate the most packing industry under federal regulation was again subjected to a severe battering today by Senator Sherman, Maine.

At the same time Senator Sterling, Maine, offered a substitute bill which would draw the teeth of the measure. It would curtail the powers of the federal live stock commission created by the Kenyon-Kendrick bill so that it would be little more than an investigating and advisory body.

Mr. Sherman declared that the bill would draw the teeth of the measure. It would curtail the powers of the federal live stock commission created by the Kenyon-Kendrick bill so that it would be little more than an investigating and advisory body.

Kendrick Is Criticized.

Mr. Sherman took a sharp fling at Mr. Kendrick, Wyoming, an active member of the National Live Stock association, one of the authors of the pending bill. He called attention to a report from El Paso that Mr. Kendrick had promised live stock men in connection with the bill that he would resign from the senate and take a position on the live stock commission if the Kenyon-Kendrick bill became a law. He thought this too, called for an explanation.

Mr. Fernald said the commission's charges against the "big five" packers had been "wholly and absolutely discredited." He characterized the plan of federal regulation as "absurd and ridiculous."

Cudahy Yard Plan Approved.

Plans of the Cudahy Packing company and Edward A. Cudahy to dispose of their interests in the Wichita Union Stock Yards company were approved today by Justice Stafford in the District Supreme court.

A minimum of 2,500 shares of the stock is to be sold in three months and possible 3,517 shares are to be disposed of in that time, while the remaining 4,100 shares owned by the Cudahy interests are to be disposed of within one year. The department of justice consented to the decree approving the plan.

A CHILD BUREAU, CHILDREN'S CODE, URGED ON STATE

Welfare Committee Makes Report.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 21.—Establishment of a division of child welfare in the state department of public welfare and the enactment of a children's code are the two principal recommendations made in the report of the children's committee, announced today.

This committee was appointed by Director Charles H. Thorne, of the state department of public welfare to determine a program for adequate child care. Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, director of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial Fund, Chicago, is the chairman and Miss Mary E. Humphrey, of Springfield secretary.

Work of Many Subcommittees.

The report of the committee includes detailed reports by a number of subcommittees. The report of the general committee says:

"The state is already bearing a large burden in the care of the unfit. If the increase of this group is not checked in this generation, the burden for the support of criminals, defectives, and delinquents will prove overwhelming in the next."

"Therefore, the prevention of poverty, disease, ignorance, and crime is the keynote of the committee's report. It is believed the people, if fully informed, will gladly bear the cost of preventive measures in the hope of decreasing the number of state wards in the future."

The establishment of a division of child welfare is recommended for pro-

MADRID TO GIVE BELGIAN RULER ROYAL WELCOME

MADRID, Jan. 21.—Preparations for the reception to be given King Albert of Belgium, who will visit Madrid early in February, are almost completed, dozens of societies, having applied to the government for permission to arrange processions in his honor. During the king's stay, the entire city will be decorated with flags, and it is the general intention to make King Albert's visit the occasion of homage to him personally, as well as an expression of friendship toward Belgium.

moting the enforcement of laws relating to children, in cooperation with child helping agencies, public and private, and taking the initiative where other adequate provision is not already made. The division would cooperate with counties and cities.

Special Code for Children.

The adoption of a children's code is strongly urged for simplifying and correlating the laws relating to children. The code would contain laws on health, education, labor control, recreation, relief and institutional care.

HARRY NEWMAN
FOR BIG BATTLE
FINALLY FOUND

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(Special.)—The idea that the boxers had failed to live up to their obligations and afforded a chance for some of the promoters to retire gracefully

took a different aspect today.

It appears that the best Dempsey has been to thereby furnishing a new set for the piece. This $50,000 bond, which was secured and representing the obligations of Kessner and Dempsey, has been in an upturn safe these many months.

Story of the Bond.

Of course, it must be understood that according to the arrangements and entered into by everyone concerned, the deposit was due on Nov.

15. In accordance with this understanding, Jack Kessner had the representation of the Fidelity Deposit company of Maryland place the required

$50,000 bond in the hands of Mr. Rickard.

The promoter in return sent it back to Kessner and the latter assuming that was a mere copy of the original document placed it in a safe where it has remained ever since.

Brady Still on Outside.

William Brady, one of the contracting parties, not knowing anything about this safe procedure, withdrew from the party when he discovered, as he believed, some one was dodging his obligations. The safe was unlocked and the bond turned over to Mr.

Rickard, but the question is still on whether Rickard is the only remaining member of the original triumvirate still on the job.

Brady's out. Rickard seems to be standing alone prepared to go on with the show at all hazards.

"There is no row," Tex Rickard said today. "The fighters have played fair and met their obligations, and so did not carry out any obligations. If they do not I will put up bonds covering my share, and if Mr. Cochran declines on getting out I will do the same in his case.

Problems Up to Edgren.

"There is not a chance for any court proceedings. If there are any problems smooth out Bob Edgren was duly appointed as the final arbitrator and decides on every question involved to be respected.

"I have received offers from many states to stage the contest and and also appears quite anxious to do the best.

"I want to say once more that I am going along with the proceedings and any one starts any law suits they are likely to get their fingers burned."

THE MAD WHIRL IS STILL ON—OUT AGAIN LAST NIGHT—THEY SPENT THE NIGHT WITH UNCLE BIM

OH DEAR—I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO ORDER
ANY MORE—I'M SO
TIRED OF LOOKING AT A

OLD THING—NOTHING
ON THE BILL LOOKS
GOOD TO ME—

NOW LISTEN JASPER—I WANT

SECONDS—AND AFTER THAT I WANT SOME PANCAKES AND COUNTRY SAUSAGE—I WANT THE PANCAKES CRISP—NOT DRIED

LATER YOU CAN SERVE

AND REMEMBER I WANT IT WELL

AND TWENTY MINUTES LATER

THE SAUSAGES—

BRING ME ANYTHING—
AFTER THAT—ANYTHING!!

fault. With the second, we do.

In the proposed contest with Hore-mans Hoppe demands winner-take-all of the gate receipts, a side bet of $1,000 to $2,500, and the match to take place in the fall after Hoppe has finished a proposed exhibition tour and enjoyed a vacation. Horemans, to secure the match, must accept these terms.

Personally, we believe in a policy of "give and take" in the sporting world.
A champion, sure of himself, should encourage, not discourage, rivals. Rivals afford him more matches and more purposes. In nearly every sport, over-boxing, the loser is accorded part of the purse. Seldom is a side bet required. Hoppe's policy primarily is selfish, and secondarily not for the best interests of billiards.

If the Wisconsin boxing commission can prevent grafting ushers and gate-men from accepting bribes for passing into choice seats gents who lack the necessary courage to face the contest, it will have performed a distinct service. That evil long has been prevalent at boxing and wrestling matches.

Cycle fans who watched the six day bike riders whirl around the track at the Coliseum yesterday were treated to a couple of thrills. One was furnished by Ernest Kockler, the Chicago boy who is riding with Osterterter as partner; the other when a terrific fall on the north end of the track Fred Hill fell and every rider in the race, except one, was thrown.

Kockler started some excitement by trying to steal a lap shortly after 6 o'clock. He got away nicely and it looked as if he might make it, for he got three-quarters of a lap in front of the "pack" before weakening. Then the mob behind sped and caught him.

McBeath Hurt in Spill.

It was shortly after this that the big spill occurred. When Hill tumbled all but one rider piled on top of him. Hill wasn't hurt and the only man who suffered damage was McBeath's ribs. Mc-Beath and Walker team, who were leading, were thrown out of the race.

Seven teams were left for the lead, with three trailers. The sprints yesterday made a big dent in the points lead held by Kockler and Osterterter and their margin now is so small that they no longer appear certain winners.

They now lead by only three points.
Madden and Magin scored seven points in their racing yesterday afternoon.

Alverno A. A. Night.

It was Alverno A. A. night at the Wabash avenue building. Kockler, who is a member of the local organization, was presented with a moving cap by his club members, who turned out in force to root for him in the night sprints.

The race will end at 10:25 o'clock tonight, and the final hour will be devoted to one mile sprints. At 9:42 o'clock all teams which are a lap or more behind will be withdrawn from the race. The team scoring first place in each of the mile sprints will be given 60 points. Second place winner will receive 20 points, third position 10, fourth place 5, and fifth 2.

EARTH'S BIGGEST BRIDGE TO SPAN HUDSON RIVER

New York, Jan. 21.—[Special.]—The largest bridge in the world, a double-deck highway and railroad structure, with a total span of 10,000 feet and a capacity of 600,000 persons an hour is to be built across the Hudson river, from about Fifty-ninth street, New York to the New Jersey shore.

The bridge is to be 180 feet wide and at the center will be 165 feet above the river. It will cost $100,000,000 and its terminal structures, including a new union railway station, will cost another $100,000,000. Gustave Lindbergh, that regarded as the leading bridge engineer, will have charge of the construction.

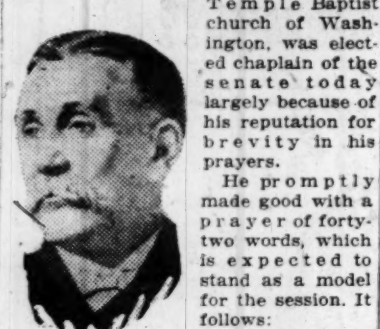

Its capacity is to be only 100,000 less per hour than the total passenger capacity of the four bridges that now span the East river. They can hold 700,000 passengers, 12,000 vehicles and 18,000 tons per hour. The new bridge would permit the Pennsylvania railroad to carry export freight direct to steamers.

The plans were announced today coincident with the filing at Albany of the incorporation papers for the Hudson River Bridge corporation. Its initial capital is fixed at $25,000,000. It is proposed that the bridge serve as the entrance to New York from the Baltimore and Ohio, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Erie, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Reading, and others.

For the working out of details a committee has been appointed with 100 members. These members include the chairman of the New York and New Jersey Bridge and Tunnel commission. Others are Charles M. Schwab, Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Newcomb DR. J. J. MUIR, pastor of the Temple Baptist church of Washington, was elected chaplain of the senate today largely because of his reputation for brevity in his prayers.

He promptly made good with a prayer of twenty-two words, which is expected to stand as a model for the session. It follows: "Our Father, we thank Thee for the light of another day and for all the opportunities it may bring to us of the privilege of service in Thy name. Glorify Thyself through our lives we humbly beseech Thee, for Christ's sake, amen."

Dr. Muir won out in a field of five contestants. He succeeds the Rev. Forest J. Prettyman. On the first ballot one vote—that of Senator Fernald of Maine was cast for Elder John Sims, favorite colored barber of many senators.

The Rev. Clara Morgan of Perry, N. Y., seeks to become the first woman chaplain of the house of representatives, succeeding the Rev. Henry M. Gouden, resigned. Her candidacy was put forward today by Representative Sanders of New York.

Carleton, and Gen. Coleman Du Pont, and Otis H. Cutler, the last named as chairman.

A statement from Mr. Cutler said the new company was to follow the charter of the Hudson River Bridge corporation created by act of congress in 1890.

Postoffice Guard Finds Joy in His Job.

The receipt of the money order delivered to the postoffice in the federal building was crowded. People stood in line before the windows, many forgers hung over the desks trying to make out application blanks.

The guard moved among them and his assistance here and there. His duty is to preserve order, but he acts as a day out as a soother of human sorrow and an untangler of postal red tape. An old lady was telling about her erring son and asking him how to send the boy money when the postoffice reporter for THE TRIBUNE arrived.

Conrad G. Warnecke, the guard, spoke with sympathy and kindness to the mother, filled out her application blank and saw that she obtained a money order. Another man asked for the postoffice reporter for THE TRIBUNE.

JUDGE UPHOLDS JURY'S SENTENCE OF COMMUNISTS

Hebel's Ruling May Jail Twenty Reds.

The verdict of a jury that sentenced William Bross Lloyd, millionaire official of the Communist Labor party, and nineteen of his followers to prison terms and fines for advocating force and violence to overthrow the government was sustained yesterday by Judge Oscar Hebel.

Judge Hebel's decision holds it is unlawful for any person openly to advocate the reformation or overthrow by violence or any other unlawful means of the representative form of government now secured to the citizens of the United States or the publishing or distributing of any literature which advises or commends the advocacy.

It also declares unlawful the organizing, aiding, or becoming a member of any society or association which has in view the purposes openly admitted to have been those of the Communist Labor party and condemns the use of the red flag or any similar emblem of the advocacy of force or anarchy.

Leaves Opening for Appeal.

The technical decision was the overruling of the motion for a new trial and the pronouncing of sentence. A motion in arrest of judgment was continued to allow the defendants to appeal to the Supreme Court. Assistant State's Attorney Lloyd Heth, who has been given complete charge of the case, will resist the appeal.

Credit for the convictions is due to Attorney Frank Comerford, who spent considerable time in Russia studying the soviet form of government, on which the defendants were modeling their proposed form of government by Lenin in Third International is the proletarian. Mr. Comerford was appointed special prosecutor and conducted the trial. He will return to private practice in the Conway Building.

Says Decision Protects Unions.

Mr. Comerford pointed out that the decision did not assual organized labor, but on the contrary, protected it. "The prosecution never questioned the right of men to join unions and to strike for the purpose of enforcing their demands," he said, "but it did insist that the kind of strike proposed by Lenin in Third International is a crime, and those who advocate the Moscow program for America are warned that such advocacy is treason."

Girls' Stories Shock Court at Pander Trial

Fred Bruder, arrested in a raid at 2126 West Madison street, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction and fined $300 by Judge John A. Bugee yesterday on two charges of pandering. The testimony of Frances Donahue and her sister, Gertrude, concerning Bruder's conduct shocked social workers present at the trial. Louis Daly, rearrested in the same raid after he had forfeited a $500 bond, pleaded not guilty to being the keeper of a disorderly house.

New York, Jan. 21.—Dangling from a thirty foot rope held by several laborers, Dr. Donnelly of the Fordham hospital early today administered first aid to three men pinned under an automobile truck that had plunged over a rock embankment on the outskirts of the city. The men were rescued later.

STEEL MEN GET CHANCE TO ADOPT 8 HOUR SHIFTS

Unemployment Provides Men Needed.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Here's one bit of silver lining to the cloud—the present unemployment and scarcity of jobs furnish the steel industry its chance to get rid of the twelve hour working day if the management will only seize it.

One stock argument against abolishing the archaic two shift day, as other industrial countries have done, and going to a three shift basis has been that the change would require the employment of 50,000 or 70,000 more men in normal years in the steel and iron mills. The owners have maintained it would be extremely difficult to find the extra labor. But today the volume of unemployment is so large that this part of the problem disappears for the present.

As to skilled men, the lajor in the industry itself as a whole are now so extensive that the plants now running could go to a three shift basis. It is estimated, and do it largely by employing men from the industry itself who are now out of jobs. From many quarters comes the cry that this is the opportunity for the shortening of hours with a minimum of trouble.

Many Have Long Hours.

Estimates vary as to how large a part of the steel industry has the long working day. The most recent survey by the department of labor shows that 17 per cent of the employees work twelve hours a day or longer; 24 per cent work eleven hours or longer; 40 per cent work nine to twelve hours and longer. These percentages are kept down by the fact that some 25 per cent work less than five hours.

One well-founded estimate is that the long working day applies to between 50 and 65 per cent of the workers. It travels the seven day week in some departments and the eighteen hour or twenty-four hour turn when day shifts and night shifts change over.

Three Day Shift in Europe.

For years the shorter shift has been the subject of agitation. The senate committee which investigated the steel strike of 1919 said the ten and twelve hour day was "an unwise and un-American policy." It was one of the underlying issues of the strike.

Managers have deplored it; organized labor has denounced it as a "remnant of the dark ages." Everywhere industry has been moving toward the shorter shift, and the change in the steel industry has been slow. In other countries England, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Sweden, and Spain, the steel industries have passed to the two shift basis, and thinking men in the trade are saying that America will have to fall back into line.

Kept Back by Allens.

The companies themselves are not wholly to blame. Many of the men, foreigners in the main, are willing to work the long hours on account of the additional pay. It hastens the time when they can depart with their savings for the old country—witness the exodus from the Calumet-Gary region to Europe last year.

Three days they are not so keen to go back, despite unemployment, but the fact remains that the transimulated foreigner, through his desire to put in more hours for more pay, has had much to do in clamping the industry to the two shift basis. Thus alien labor has kept American workers back.

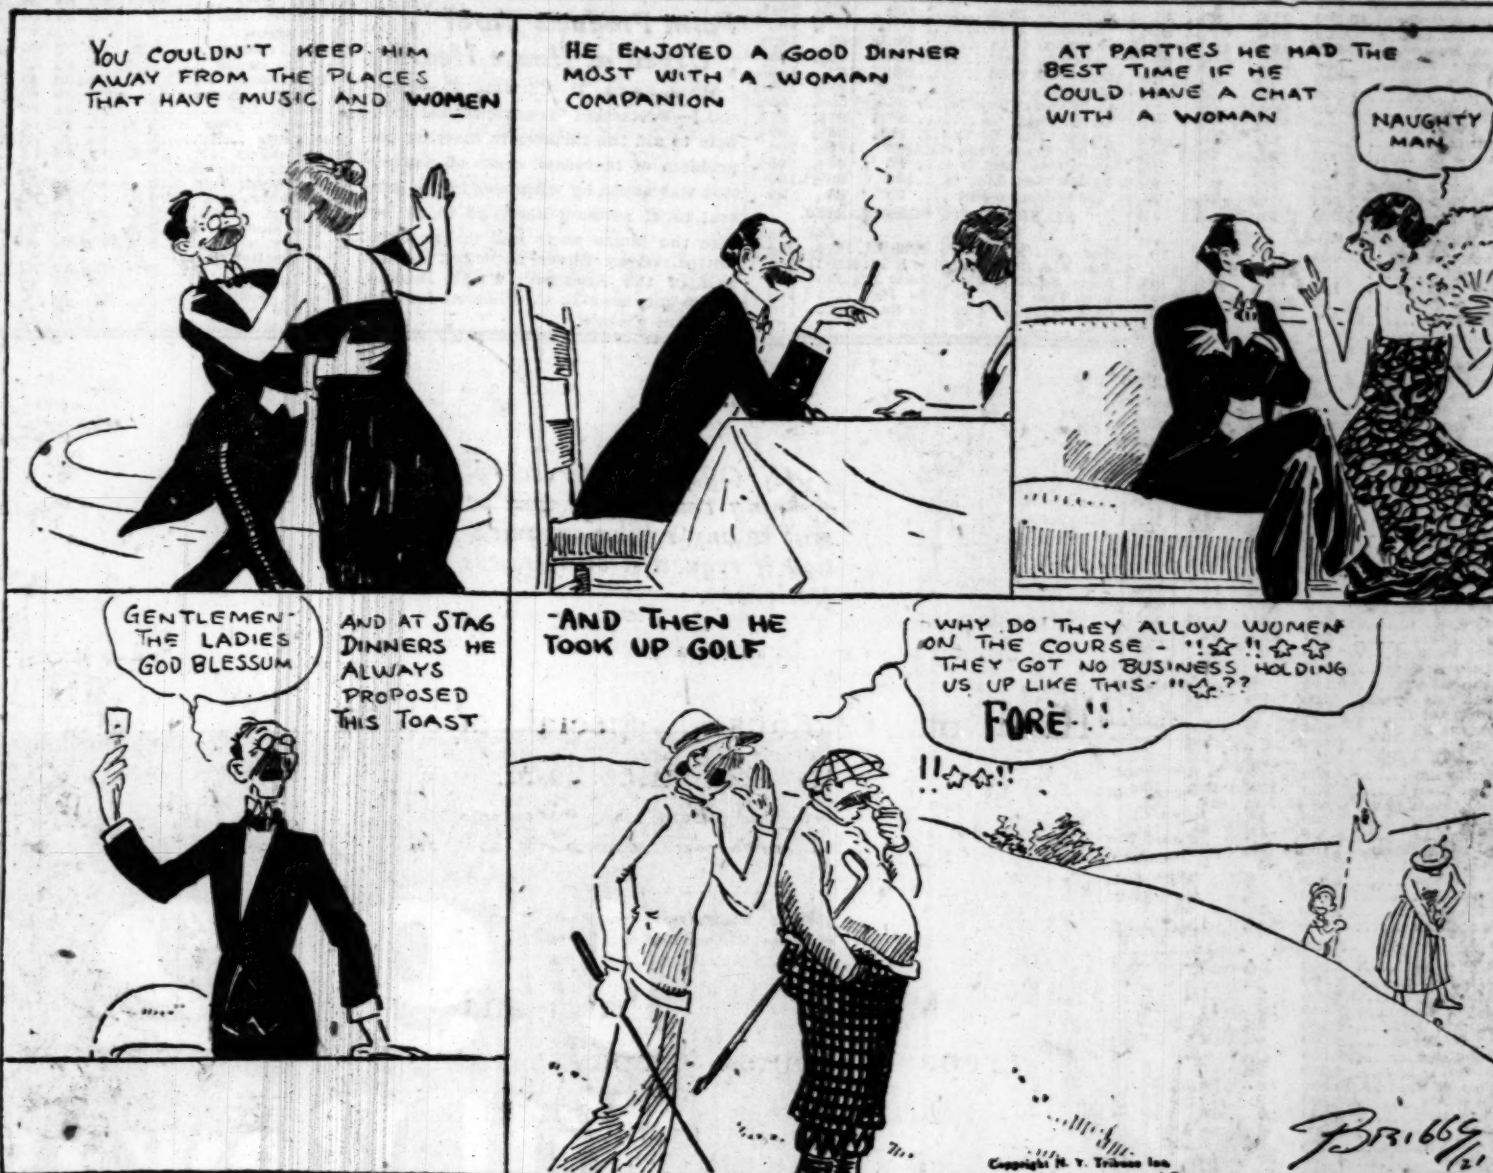

For example, the Inland Steel company at Indiana Harbor some two years ago put in an employees' representative plan and went to an eight hour basis, an actual eight hour day and not a theoretical one. After a time the men in some departments became restless. Some of them went to twelve hour plants to look for long hour jobs, and eventually one or two of the joint councils, on which labor had an equal voice with management, asked for an hour or two extra work a day.

Will Restore Longer Hours.

One of the inland's officials announced yesterday that when the plant starts into fuller operations again it will go back to the old long hour basis. The independents are now on a competitive basis and to land the business it is necessary, they say, to reduce production costs, and under the eight hour plan labor costs were increased to a certain extent.

On the other hand some of the independents in the Youngstown district are talking of substituting three shifts for two shifts. Their theory is that it would decrease labor cost by increasing efficiency and output. Elimination of overtime, too, they figure, will reduce the bill, while a three shift system would also afford employment for a larger number of workers during times of intermittent business.

BURROAK RAIDED AS JURY VOTES 9 GAMBLING BILLS

Sheriff's Aids Renew Suburb Swoops.

Deputy sheriffs under charge of Deputy Sheriff Otto Gnewuch late yesterday afternoon raided four saloons and poolrooms in Burr Oak, Ill., and confiscated four slot machines. Among the places raided were those of Stanley Serika, South Green and One Hundred and Third streets, and Mrs. Marcey-cynna Wisigroeski, South Ashland avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street.

"These places have been raided before," said H. C. W. Laubenhoefer, chief deputy sheriff, "and we intend to continue these raids, one after the other, until all gambling is stopped."

Grand Jury Votes Bills.

The grand jury took its first action against gamblers from country towns who have been taken in the raiding net of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. True bills against nine owners of the raided places were voted, and the indictments are expected to be returned within a few days. Those named yesterday are:

Akron Begre, 6246 Argo avenue, Argo.

Kosta Milkovich, 3 West State street, West Hammond.

Fred Hacker, 563 Ingram street, West Hammond.

Andrew Mulner, 100 West State street, West Hammond.

David Candel, 10 West State street, West Hammond.

Philip Howard, 10 West State street, West Hammond.

Al Brown, 10 and 18 Gostlin street, Burnham.

Richard Lambert, said to be a political power, Sixty-third street and Archer avenue, Argo.

Ignatz Przybylski, alias "Hick the Barber," Sixty-second street and Archer avenue, Argo.

Clergyman Before Grand Jury.

Members of the clergy and the law abiding citizens of Argo have appeared before the grand jury to testify and make complaint against the Argo places.

Most of those against whom true bills have been voted were placed under bench warrants calling for $2,000 bonds by Judge McDonald. The jurist issued bench warrants for Brown, Begre, Mulner, Candel, and Milkovich. Bench warrants were also issued for Morris Schneider and Peter Esser, also of West Hammond, but against whom the grand jury took no action yesterday. The judge refused a bench warrant for Hacker because he has substantial property and is not expected to flee the jurisdiction of the court.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

Do you have to shampoo your hair oftener in Chicago than in the country?

Where Asked.

In the Fine Arts building.

The Answers.

Faith Culver, 919 Leland avenue, student—Sure, I have to shampoo my hair four times a month in Chicago, while twice a month suffices when I am in the country and away from so much dust and dirt. Of course, this hair schedule is made necessary by nothing more than the lovely Chicago smoke, dust, and dirt in the downtown district.

Madeline Seibert, 1151 West Garfield boulevard, pianist—I find that I have to shampoo my hair four times a month in Chicago, while twice a month suffices when I am in the country and away from so much dust and dirt. Of course, this hair schedule is made necessary by nothing more than the lovely Chicago smoke, dust, and dirt in the downtown district.

Edna Cochran, 446 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, teacher—Traveling on the I. C. several times a week makes it necessary to shampoo the hair quite often. After this railroad electricity, we girls can enjoy a vacation. Of course, everyone has to shampoo oftener in this smoky place now.

Emie Doe, 4558 Oakwood avenue, accountant—I have to shampoo my hair four times every month. You may stand here all day and ask the girls to give Chicago a boost about cleanliness, but I'm afraid you won't find a pure air compliment.

Glady's Chandler, 3402 Sheridan road, teacher—Even if I do have to wash my hair every other day, I am still heartily in favor of Chicago as a place to live. There is no doubt that the item of hair is one that demands more attention in the city than in the country, but who cares to go to the country just to keep from washing the hair?

FARMERS' OFFER TO GIVE CORN FOR RELIEF ACCEPTED

Problem of Raising Funds Taken Up.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The farmers' offer to give corn to the starving millions in foreign countries has been accepted by the Hoover European relief committee and the near east relief committee. The two committees have promised to use all corn for which they can raise transportation money, according to a telegram sent from New York City J. R. Howard to the American Farm Bureau federation last night.

Mr. Howard, president of the federal farm bureau and representing 1,250,000 farmers, has been in New York for several days in conference with Herbert C. Hoover and other foreign relief committee heads trying to work out some scheme of financing transportation.

All Committees Cooperate.

In his message President Howard said the committee were cooperating wholeheartedly in the work and would not doubt raise sufficient money to transport the grain offered by the farmers throughout the corn growing districts of the United States.

The farmers' slogan in the movement is, "Let us market our surplus in relief and take our pay in good will." They expect the public to pay the transportation bill.

First Shipment in a Month.

"We are counting on at least a cargo of 6,000 tons ready for shipment from Tacoma the latter part of February or the first week in March, so that it reaches China for distribution the earliest possible day in April," writes Ray D. Henkle, general secretary of the American committee for China famine fund.

The following extract from a New York engineer's letter written to the bureau is typical of the attitude of publicists taking in helping out in this work: "I notice in the New York newspapers the farmers' plan for sending corn to Europe and China. I have already contributed $5,000 to the China famine fund, and I am offering an additional check for $5,000 to aid your fund in any way."

House Committee Favors War Veteran Hospitals

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—An appropriation of $15,000,000 for six new hospitals for war veterans is favored by the house public buildings committee. Chairman Langley announced today. It is planned to increase the $10,000,000 item for five hospitals already reported, he said. Part of the fund would go to convert existing buildings at Fort Walla Walla and Vancouver barracks, Wash., and Fort McKenzie, Wyo.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Tribune of Jan. 19, correcting an item printed on Jan. 19, quoted S. Hutchinson, president of the American Film company, as saying the fire in his plant at 6227 Broadway had done only $200 damage, instead of $50,000 as had been reported. The fire department puts the loss at $3,000.

The Tribune of Jan. 16 announced the marriage of Miss Lillian Minette Warnecke to Walter H. Fischer. It was the engagement which should have been announced. The marriage will take place Jan. 28.

Miss Charlotte R. Greene announces that she, and not Miss Margery Sweet, as reported in THE TRIBUNE, was the first registrant in the Joseph Medill school of journalism.

BEATRICE CLOW, 12, ROUTS THIEF, SAVES JEWELS

Beatrice Clow, 12 year old daughter of Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., was the heroine of Lake Forest yesterday. She spent nearly the entire day telling her playmates the thrilling details of her encounter with a burglar in the Clow home Thursday night. But she did not mention that in driving the intruder away she probably saved thousands of dollars' worth of her mother's jewels from falling into the thief's hands.

The burglary did not become public until yesterday. It occurred about 7 o'clock in the evening, while the family was at dinner. The thief had placed a long ladder against the side of the residence in South Green Bay road and had crawled through a window of Mrs. Clow's bedroom.

Hearing a slight noise upstairs, Beatrice, without telling her parents her suspicions, excused herself from the dinner table, and hurried upstairs to her mother's room. A man was standing in front of the dressing table near the open window. He had Mrs. Clow's purse in his hands.

"And who are you?" Beatrice asked. "Never mind," replied the man. "It's all right. Just run along."

Beatrice ran. She ran down the steps as fast as she could and called her mother. There was a sound of scrambling feet overhead and when members of the family rushed into the bedroom the man had scrambled down the ladder and disappeared in the darkness. He had obtained only $25 from the purse.

Mr. Clow is a member of the firm of James B. Clow & Sons, plumbing manufacturers, 544 South Franklin street.

CAPT. RYAN FIRED: CHIEF WINNER IN TEST OF POWERS

Englewood Commander Is Found Inefficient.

Capt. John J. ("White Alley") Ryan of the Englewood police district was found guilty of inefficiency yesterday by the city civil service commission after a trial at which Chief of Police Fitzmorris conducted the prosecution.

Ryan is the first captain and the thirty-fourth member of the police force to be dismissed since Chief Fitzmorris took office on Nov. 10, when Mayor Thompson announced that "Charlie doesn't have to have any men on the force he doesn't want there."

Capt. Ryan, who has been a policeman for twenty-seven years and nine months, was found guilty of attempting to "cover up" two patrolmen against whom the chief had preferred charges and of inefficiency in connection with the Ward Baking company robbery on Nov. 29.

Big Victory for Chief.

Capt. Ryan's trial is regarded as a milestone in Chief Fitzmorris' career as head of the police department. Had his charges against Ryan failed to "stick," his attempts to put the department "on its toes" would have been handicapped and perhaps nullified, astute police observers say. The entire department awaited the board's decision with bated breath.

Although neither the members of the trial board nor the chief would discuss the dismissal order, others declared the "thing that hung" Capt. Ryan was his admission on the stand yesterday that he had misinformed Chief Fitzmorris concerning a complaint by James O'Toole of 5325 Princeton avenue against Patrolmen John J. Finn and Edward McNamara.

On Nov. 24 McNamara and Finn were put on trial before the commission on charges of disorderly conduct. On Nov. 15 O'Toole had told the captain, McNamara and Finn had locked him up on the night of Nov. 15, made no charges against him, and after holding him three hours, ordered him by telephone to meet them in a saloon to "square matters."

"I was simply mistaken," he testified. "I had laid the complaint on my desk and forgotten all about it. I didn't misinform the chief intentionally."

On Dec. 1 Chief Fitzmorris heard of the O'Toole complaint and sent for the captain, who declared, he admitted yesterday, that he had never heard of the O'Toole complaint, though it had been on his desk for more than two weeks.

"I was simply mistaken," he testified. "I had laid the complaint on my desk and forgotten all about it. I didn't misinform the chief intentionally."

When told of the dismissal order last night, Capt. Ryan said: "I admit it was a bad mistake I made. I didn't think it would be as serious as this. I don't care to talk until I see my attorney."

A score of business men and policemen and Aid John H. Lyle attempted to save Ryan by testifying in his behalf. His close friendship with Dr. William H. Reid, commissioner of public service, aided him nothing.

Civil Service Commissioners Charles E. Frazier, Joseph P. Geary, and Alexander Johnson and First Deputy John H. Alecock composed the trial board which heard the evidence against Ryan. The formal charges consisted of neglect of duty, incapacity and inefficiency, and making a false official report.

The general specification in the charges was that Capt. Ryan "allowed the discipline and the morale of his command to become lax and failed properly to handle crimes committed in the district of which he was in command."

Postoffice Guard Finds Joy in His Job.

The receipt of the money order delivered to the postoffice in the federal building was crowded. People stood in line before the windows, many forgers hung over the desks trying to make out application blanks.

The guard moved among them and his assistance here and there. His duty is to preserve order, but he acts as a day out as a soother of human sorrow and an untangler of postal red tape. An old lady was telling about her erring son and asking him how to send the boy money when the postoffice reporter for THE TRIBUNE arrived.

Conrad G. Warnecke, the guard, spoke with sympathy and kindness to the mother, filled out her application blank and saw that she obtained a money order. Another man asked for the postoffice reporter for THE TRIBUNE.

Guard is Unruffled.

"Hey, you—I got to send some dough a guy—what'll I do?"

"I will be free in just a moment. I will be glad to help you," the guard answered.

The reporter was impatient, almost shouting.

"I am through now. May I help you?" the guard asked as soon as he had answered the other man's question.

"Tah, sure, but you were darned slow."

"I am sorry; I could not help it," he answered.

The reporter proved to be very simple minded. He asked question after question, but not once did he ruffle the feelings of Mr. Warnecke. When asked how he could not remember the name of the man to whom he wanted to send money, Mr. Warnecke did not even smile, but kindly explained that one could not send money through the mail unless he had a name and address.

Gets a $50 Surprise.

The reporter decided he wanted a take out naturalization papers. The guard was surprised, but very graciously directed his tormentor to the naturalization office. Then he was asked a card which announced him to be the winner of THE TRIBUNE's fifteen prize of $50.

"You take my breath—polite. Why, I have found that you have to be kind to many of the people who come in here if you are to help them at all, because if you are gruff they get excited and cannot even tell to whom they want to send money."

"I understood that the government will not let them lose it. The Chinese and Japanese do not need much help. They are very quick, but for some of the people I have to write letters and do all the work. I like to do it for them."

A Pondering Test.

The reporter had started out to find a police officer on South State street. He was alighted over his eyes and he walked with a listless drag. Every man he met he had sidled up to and asked for a dime to get a bite to eat.

"I understood that the government will not let them lose it. The Chinese and Japanese do not need much help. They are very quick, but for some of the people I have to write letters and do all the work. I like to do it for them."

He turned to the federal building. Perhaps some one there would be polite to a bum, and he had asked for a dime to get a bite to eat.
